Highest Security Rating - For use on External Doors, domestic and commercial as specified by Insurance Companies, Police Authority recommendations, National House Builders specification, etc.

British Standard rated locks have hardened steel pins or plates inserted into the lock deadbolt, to help against saw attack.

They also have anti-drill plates on each side of the lock case to help resist drilling and prevent the levers from being lifted.

British Standard rated locks are supplied with a boxed strike or receiver which helps resist Jemmy attack, in order to force back the deadbolt when locked.
